the side into the boats and a little later the wireless signals dropped sharply in volume, indicating that the main set was out of commission and the auxiliary one pressed into service.

At 1:25 came the last message. This told that the shin was being bandoned and the wireless man was roing along with his shipmates as it was no longer possible to transmit. Then deep silence fell, leaving only conjecture to picture the conditions of those adrift in their little loss, a wintry wind cutting across them and with darkness coming on before help could be expected.

It was a mixed company of passengers on the Vestris, such as one Charles. A Hardman.

the rescue was the Coast Guard cutter Davis. It reported that it ought to reach the Vestris about 5 o'clock this afternoon, but reports from other ships in the general vicinity indicated that the force of the waves might delay its arrival to a considerable extent.

While the fast ships were specifing to the disabled craft with thoughts only of the human lives to be saved, a plodding salvage tug pushed out from Sandy Hook late today to bring in the Vestris if it should stay affoat long enough. The wrecking tug Relief expects to reach the scene about noon tomorrow and make an attempt to get a line onto the Vestris, which is valued at between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000. Lamport and Holt Line officials said the cargo is worth several millions and 'hat some of it may be salvaged if the vessel can be towed to port.

A New and Better Way of Wringing

IF YOU were to pass a clothes-pin between the rolls of the Maytag Roller Water Remover, it would pear as in the illustration above. In like manner, this large, soft, upper roll hugs the lumps, folds and seams in the clothes, reaches down into the low spots, and leaves no wet places to retard drying on the line.

Buttons, snaps or ornaments go through safely.

Exhaustive experiments con-vinced The Maytag Company that a soft top roll, working against a hard bottom roll, creates more effective wringing action than two soft rolls or two hard rolls. The Roller Water Remover, incorporating this method, is exclusively owned and controlled by The Maytag Company. It permits perfect wringing with less time and effort than ever before,

The detail drawing at the right, above, shows you the many features of convenience which make the Roller Water Remover so handy. The safety-feed makes it easy to start the clothes through the rolls. The tension automatically adjust itself to a thin handkerchief or a bulky blanket. The drainboard automatically reverses itself, and pressure on safety release makes it possible to instantly separate rolls.

MOVE STARTED | One Policy for FOR FARM AID

Senator McNary Confers With Coolidge

Action by Present Congress Doubly Favored

Will Affect Next Crop and Relieve Hoover

washington, Nov. 12. (Exclusive) — The movement to put through farm-relief legislation at the coming session of Congress. through farm-relief legislation at the coming session of Congress began to take definite shape today when Senator McNary of Oregon, chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, conferred on the subject with President Coolidge at the White House, and then went to his office at the Capitol to continue work on the measure he plans to introduce immediately upon reconvening of Congress three weeks from today.

Both McNary and Senator David A. Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, who was also a White House caller, declared, they believe the Seventieth Congress at its final session of the new Congress coming in March 4 will not be pecessary, and the Hoover administration may have a period of adjustment before tackling legislative problems.

But with Senator McNary the main consideration, he said. Is getting a farm bill on the statute books so that its operation will affect next year's crops. Putting the matter of for a special session, he fears, would make it impossible to carry aid to the farmers before the crop season of 1930.

NEXT CEOF IN MIND

NEXT CROP IN MIND

President Coolidge is represented as being more than willing to have a farm-relief measure enacted before the close of his administration to stand as a final mark of achievement to his credit and serve as refutation of charges that, his administration has not been competent to deal with the farm problem. At the same time friends of President-elect Hoover are said to welcome the prospect of having the Coolidge administration assume responsibility for agricultural relief.

Senator McNary today had completed a tentative draft of a bill and all that remains is to whip it into final shape. It is in the main the old McNary-Haugen bill all over again except for omission of the controversial "equalization fee" which has twice been found unacceptable. The measure will provide for a farm board along the lines laid down by Herbert Hoover, which board will be supplied with $300,000, or some such sum, with which to control crop surpluses and promote co-operative marketing. The Oregon Senator indicated the bill he will propose will have the unqualified indorsement of Secretary of Agriculture Jardina.

McNary intends to get the reaction of farm leaders to the new bill during the annual meeting of the National Grange which openshere Wednesday and which President Coolidge and Secretary Jardine will address on the farm question. The President is expected to seize this opportunity to set forth in detail his views as to how a farm loan board, such as that contemplated in the legislation now being formed, would operate to aid the farmer. Mr. Coolidge has had several recent conferences with Eugene Meyer, chairman of the existing farm loan board, and presumably has been getting the aid of this official in the preparation of his grange speech.

Soon after Congress meets December 3, Benator McNary will call the Senate Agricultural Committee into session to consider his bill and it is believed that there in committee he faces the only possible hitch in the program to get a farm bill snated. Several of the Democrats on the committee, not

DAM WILL NOT CONFLICT DAM WILL NOT CONFLICT
Senator McNary declined comment today on what the situation will be in his committee, but he did asy: "If the committee will take favorable action I haven't the dightest doubt but that farm relief egislation satisfactory to President Coolidge and Mr. Hoover alike will be enacted before the Seventieth Congress goes out March 4. "I think it is the duty of this Congress to deal with farm relief at the first opportunity after it meets in December. There is no reason why this administration cannot deal with this and other important problems.

Asked if he thought this program might not interfere with action on the Boulder Dam bill which is now the unfinished business of the Senate, McNary replied in the negative, saying he expected Boulder Dam would be "out of the way" befor the farm bill reached the floor. He said it was his belief that the Arizona senators would not renew their filibuster against the Boulder Dam project and that the Johnson-Swing measure would be passed after a reasonable period of further debate.

RESALE VALUE

HE unusually high resale value of Studebaker cars is the direct result of two facts, important to every

FIRST, is the exceptionally long life of Studebaker cars. You, as the original purchaser, may not care to drive your car more than a year or two, but the fact that the car still has tens of thousands of unused miles means that its resale price is certain to be well above the average.

Many Have Gone 100,000 miles-and more

We have on file the names of hundreds of Studebaker owners whose cars have gone 100,000 miles or more. Many of these cars have gone nearly a half million miles. This long life is one reason why Studebakers enjoy an exceptionally high resale value-certainly a fact of importance to every new car buyer.

Always a Heavy Demand for Certified Sixes

SECOND, is the demand for used Studebakers, particularly, those sold as Certified Sixes by the Paul G. Hoffman Co. The name Certified Six belongs to us exclusively and is registered in the U. S. Patent Office. A Studebaker Certified Six is a used car that has been driven a comparatively short distance and has been turned in for a later model. We guarantee these cars for 30 days and give 30 days of free Hoffman Service.

Only 50 Cars on Hand to Meet Today's Heavy Demand

Not only is there a high resale value in these cars but the demand often exceeds the supply. Up to this morning (Monday, November 12th) we have sold 2850 used Studebakers this year-and we have on hand right now just 50 used cars, including those in all our branches.

IMPORTANT TO YOU

These two facts about Studebaker resale value are important to you. If you own a Studebaker Dictator or Commander, especially a sedan model, it will be to your advantage to turn it in on a new model right now. We have a demand for used Dietators and Commanders that we are unable to fill.

If you are about to buy a new car-remember that the high resale value of Studebaker cars is one important reason why you should own one.

> Come in today-and see why Studebaker is breaking former sales records.

Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, Justice Bailey today ordered the jury selected to hear the case to be locked up for its duration.

This action came at the close of the opening session as Frank J. Hogan, chief defense counsel, was winding up his opening statement to the jury. The nine men and three women earlier had heard the government's case, sketched by Leo A. Rover, District Attorney.

Robert N. Caldwell, the second of twenty-eight talesmen examined by the court, interrupted the procedure temporarily with a statement that a young man had wisited him at home yesterday and inquired whether he would "hold out" in the case.

Caldwell, an elderly butter dealer, asserted outside the court that the visitor had wanted to know whether he is a Catholic. His version of the visit was received in detail by court officers, who said it will be investigated thoroughly. Caldwell was excused from service in the case through a peremptory challenge by the defense.

ever a Halt in the-Westward Advance

In 1781, a grant of four varas square was set aside by the Spanish King as the pueblo of Los Angeles.

In 1900, these same four varas square approximated the extent of the city... Indiana Street on the East; Hoover Street on the West.

TODAY...Los Angeles has advanced her limits Westward 20 miles from the city's center. This is six-fold greater than the Eastward advance in the same period.

Hence Westward is the path of Los Angeles' greatest development ... it is and will be! Figures show one mile Westward and 100,000 increase in population every five years up to 1920. Since then, the expansion has been at the rate of 1 mile Westward and 100,000 increase in population per year. Each 100,000 increase in population has advanced the city one mile Westward. And a million more people are coming!

Prior to 1920 the advance radiated Westward...it was fan-shaped. Today the fan is reversed...it becomes a funnel. The mountains and the ocean form the sides and Huntington Palisades the tip...the objective to which all westward progress converges.

Population of Los Angeles for 1900 - 102,495 223,029 319,198 1910 . . 415,367 1920 - -576,673 762,698 1922 . .

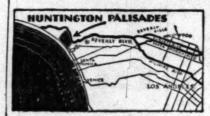

1928 - - 1,395,574 Prom 1900 to 1920, the population of Los Angeles increased 100,000 every five years. Since 1920, the increase EACH YEAR has equaled 100,000. Future years will witness still greater impetus. Remember ... population makes values...and Huntington Palisades is the ultimate objective of this irresistible Westward march of population.

Huntington Palisades occupies the most strategic location in the future development of Metropolitan Los Angeles. No man-made tunnels, boulevards, harbors or rivers can divert the onward march of increasing population away from it. There is not a halt in the Westward advance until it reaches Huntington Palisades ... there it must halt!...the Pacific Ocean is beyond.

No stretch of imagination is required to foresee the tremendous increase in prices that this insures for Huntington Palisades.

If you contemplate the purchase of a site for your permanent home...or for an investment...now is the time to buy.

The economy of subdividing under a Subdivision Trust

One of the principal reasons why the leading realtors of the United States convey the titles of their subdivisions to a trust company, is for the sake of economy—and principally economy of time. No subdivider is fully equipped to handle the many and varied details that can be performed so thoroughly, promptly, and accurately for him by a modern trust institution. Furthermore, purchasers of property appreciate the convenience and safety of dealing with a responsible trustee.

Our work in faithfully and efficiently serving as trustee for subdividers is a substantial part of the history of Los Angeles real estate.

Reallocation Reports Slow to Reach Board

Some Received Praise Plan as Improvement

Engineers Co-operate With Better Equipment

BY MARTIN CODEL

(Copyright, 1928, by North American

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (Exclusive)—So much conflicting testimony is being received about the effects of the broadcast reallocation that it is impossible to particularize this early. That is a matter for continued mission are commendatory. Improvement seems to be marked in many cities. The Jural communities have been alow to report results, but confidence prevailed at the commission today that the mails would bring favorable comment from the people who should benefit most by the reallocation.

The most gratifying thing about the whole project at its present stage in the minds of several members of the commission is the serious effort being made by the various stations to co-operate by improving as well as readjusting their equipment. Station engineers, in general, are highly favorable toward the basic reallocation plan, even though their own fortunes are often adversely affected by the rigid requirements as to wave-length changes and time divisions.

The theory of the plan now more than ever seems wholly sound to the commission's engineers. Dr. J. H. Dellinger, technical chief, and Capt. Guy Hills, engineer in charge of the reallocation, cite their own local observations as proof thes.

New York City presented the first real controversy under the new setup when the municipal station.

WNYC, refused to share operating hours with WMCA and we'll on their mutually assigned channel with a full schedule. This ruined the latter's Sunday night program. They were ordered by the commission to alternate days of operation with each other until a hearing will be heard here Priday.

These new type motors -how sensitive they are!"

They demand an OIL that forms no hard carbon

Harmful in any motor, gritty, coke-like carbon from burned oil is even more serious in motors of the new high-compression type.

So, like other motorists, you have probably come face to face with the carbon problem.

Many otherwise good lubricants form layers of hard, flinty carbon within your motor. Abrasive bits grind through bearings; larger flakes hold valves open; red-hot "nibs" cause knocking.

It is in both the amount of carbon and the kind that you may judge a motor oil. Let us give you the striking facts about one oil.

Less carbon—soft carbon Shell Motor Oil actually forms only 1/s to 1/s as much carbon as even the highest priced oils; And the little it forms is only a soft soot that blows

None of the sturdy body of this new lubricant is lost in refining. It comes to you with heat-resisting qualities, with lubricant value, far in excess of the good oils of the past.

Refill with Shell Motor Oil. Get its finer lubrication, its freedom from destructive carbon. Let it "add thousands of miles to the life of your car."

Securities Under Seasoning

PARTICULARLY attractive yields, nowadays, can be secured by the discriminating investor from the securities of certain types of business which are new or heretofore have been, for the most part, privately financed.

While such securities are in process of seasoning a wisely chosen group should afford not only a sound outlet for investment funds but an eventual enhancement in price that should be substantial.

This house has attentively watched develto suggest specific issues of the character indicated. Shall we write you in detail?

Rancho Santa Fe
Owned by the Santa Fe Land Improvement Company

Originally a Grant from the King of Spain to Don Juan Maria Osuna

Located in that superb climatic corner of Southern California, San Diego County, where the Pacific ocean borders a section of coast perfectly protected by surrounding mountains from disagreeable winds; having the most genially stimulating climate, combining sea and mountain air, where one experiences perfect bodily comfort all the year.

This favored climatic area is illustrated on the map above, which shows how the mountains come tumbling down to the sea at Capistrano and San Clemente, and from there on South form a huge arc of protecting hills that afford perfect protection from desert winds and give this area a climate unmatched in all the world, being freshened as it is with pure breezes from the Pacific ocean, tempered by ocean currents that have a most favorable influence.

Here the great financial interests that are offering Rancho Santa Fe have spared neither time nor expense to build a lovely community that is now offered for horticultural development or small residential estates, so located as to afford ample space for suitable building sites and still have room for subtropical plantings and landscaping.

A sincere effort has been made to preserve the historical atmosphere and the remains of ad Spanish occupation. Modern homes are being built that architecturally conform to early California—stucco walls and red tile roofs; walled gardens and patios all recall the days of the Dons. (Soon the scent of flowers from many gardens and patios will mingle with that of orange and lemon blossoms from hundreds of acres now under cultivation.)

Here is found a community without its like in all the world, combining with an early California setting, the comforts that fulfill the most up-to-date requirements of modern city life. Here too, is being built a wonderful all-green 18-hole golf

Prices of property are lower than you would reasonably expect and offer solid and authentic values. Acreage can be obtained from $400 to $500.

Small estates with electric and telephone lines placed underground, located on winding roads, with views of sea and mountain, run from $2000 to $4000. Terms of sale are 20% down and the balance in five equal annual payments with interest at 6% on deferred payments.

A requirement is made that landscaping, or building, or planting be done within a year to secure uniform development of Rancho Santa Fe and enhancement of values for one's own

To visit Rancho Santa Fe by motor, drive down the scenic Coast Highway to Solana Beach, 107 miles South of Los Angeles and 28 miles North of San Diego. Turn inland 6 miles to Rancho Santa Fa year, and is partly accounted for by increased movements to the harbor of cargo for the port's growing export business.

No mention is made of the amount moved in and out of the port by motor trucks, but recent surveys reveal that approximately half of all cargo handled to and from ships here is brought to the port or taken from it by trucks. Nowhere else in the country, it is declared, is the percentage of truck-hauled commerce as large as that in this area. One item, that of oil pipe now flowing into the port in scores of thousands of tone is transported away almost entirely by trucks. Lumber is another the port in scores of thousands of tone is transported away almost entirely by trucks. Lumber is another the precepting the motor vehicle, the receipts of one great yard moving out entirely by means of trucks. Cotton likewise, even from the San Joaquin Valley and Importal and even the Yuma fields of Arizona, is coming to the port on trucks and trailers at almost express speed. As many as twenty-five to thirty such vehicles at a time have been unloading at the plant of the Los Anglees Compress and Warehouse Company recently.

During the past several years Dr. Wheeler has performed nearly 16,000 of his simple, knifeless gland operations, and his grateful patients are to be found in every part of the globe. Modern science teaches us that the growth of our body, the process of metabolism, the shape of our bones, rate of oxidation, the function of the digestive system, the action of our brain, are all influenced to a large extent by our duriless glands.

DRAG OUT THE FACTS!

DRAG OUT THE FACTS!

The atmosphere of Los Angeles is poisoned by suspicion directed toward those in high places in the government of the city and county. The confidence of the public in its elected servants, the foundation stone of the community, has been undermined to the danger point. The attitude of the average citizen toward those on whose integrity and fidelity to duty his own welfare depends is one of cynical distrust. That in many—probably most-cases such suspicion is unjustified does nothing to modify the very real peril of the situation.

For many months this dangerous condition has been growing. Like a malignant cancer it has flourished under an apparently healthy surface. Born of a series of impudently-flagrant miscarriages of justice in which the public interest was wantonly flouted, it has fed upon whispered innuendo until its inky tenacles have reached into every department of our local government.

Rumors of corruption in office and of betrayal of the public trust are everywhere. The officials who have escaped them are few. Those who enjoy the complete condidence of all the public are fewer still. Here and there he hidden canker of suspicion has erupted into open candal. For the most part, however, distrust is stumbling and stabbing in the dark.

Some of these scandal-whisperings have been started by the underworld for its own sinister purposes, on the theory that in muddy waters there is the best fishing. Some are purely political. Others have tangible basis in act. All have been magnified to appalling enormities in their passage from mouth to mouth. Like snowballs, rumors of evil grow as they progress. In some instances, well-mean but ill-considered efforts to deal unofficially with the situation have served only to aggravate it.

Suspicion is contagious and epidemic. From those fficials whose conduct has laid them open to question it has spread to others of whom there is no legitimate reason for distrust. Condemnation is being given without discrimination; the rain of suspicion falls alike up

There is but one remedy for the situation. That is to drag out the facts; to let in the light; to bare the truth and the whole truth as quickly as it is possible to do so. Ventilation and sunshine are the great purifiers but they cannot act in the absence of real exposure. So long as the sores are covered up they will continue to fester. The facts alone will demonstrate where, if it exists, the corruption is and whether the disease is general or local. In some degree, suspicion is directed at most of our officials. Only the facts will show where it is justified and where it is not.

Only the facts will show where it is justified and where it is not.

The county grand jury, which has shown a highly-commendable determination to get at the truth, whatever its cost, has an opportuniy for public service such as has fallen to the lot of few such bodies. The task to which its members have energetically set themselves is one demanding courage and ability of the first order. In their arduous, even perilous, endeavors to rid the community of its blighting incubus of distrust they should feel assured of the greatest possible degree of public support. Only to the extent that the public realizes that their efforts are for the public good will the benefits of those efforts redound to the community. They should receive the fullest collaboration, that their task may be the sooner sended and the truth come out.

Whatever that truth may prove to be, we shall be the gainer for it. The facts cannot possibly be as hurtful as the wild rumors now in circulation.

Let us have evidence in place of rumors; testimony in the last of a three-day celebration of the signing of the armistic ending the World War ten years ago. Above is a picture of some of the sallors of a great parade sweeping proudly by the reviewing stand in which Cov. Young stood. Just below is a picture of some of the sallors of the fiest who marched in the long line of marchers. Below is Gov. Young addressing the assembly with a microphone in front to carry his voice to the far corner of the stadium.

MITY'S CELEBRATION PROVES J PEACE MEMORY UNDIMMED Military Review and Armistice Day

Ceremonies Draw 30,000 to Coliseum

The years that have passed have scarcely lessened, it was evidenced yesterday by thousands of persons in Los Angeles and vicinity, the joy which a decade ago swept around the world in the wake of that memorable outburst of emotion over the ending of the World War. Happiness over war ended and hopes for future peace reverently were expressed in countless places from the cloisters of remembrance in quiet little rooms of mothers, widows and orphans to great mass demonstrations in public meeting places.

At the Coliseum, where Los Angeles' official celebration of the signing of the armistice anniversary took piace, fully 30,000 persons assembled around the great openair arena and for three hours fairly charged the atmosphere with emotion in honoring those who carried on in the war. It was a people's climax to the three days of memorial observance which this year marked that fateful day, ten years are.

Gringe

At that dinner to Dr. Kidder we sat beside Arthur Woodward, director of anthropology of the Los Angeles Museum. Woodward has a penchant for working out unexplained names, sayings and traditions, such as why the Virginians were known as "Long Knives" and how Canon Perdido street in Santa Barbara got its name. So we asked him if he could shed any light on the nickname, gringo. We'd often heard that it came from a song popular with American soldlers during the war with Mexico—a song beginning "Green grows the grass." But we'd noticed that Blasco Ibanez put "gringo" into the mouths of Argentinians in "The Four Horsemen," written before he ever visited Mexico.

Woodward's theory is that "gringo" is a corruption of the Spanish word "Griego," or Greek. The Greeks were great travelers, and the Spaniards took to calling anyone from the eastern end of the Mediterranean a "grippo" inst dge entered in his Armistice Day h restates the American position with a conciseness and lucidity which Europe, which persists in misunderstanding, can hardly fall to grasp. We shall do no meddling whatever in purely European concerns; such duties as we owe to Europe we shall perform; we shall expect in return the performance of the duties of Europe to us; we shall work aggressively for peace; we will forgive no debts that the debtar can pay; we will maintain our navy in accordance with world standards and for our own defense.

We will do this in full understanding that preparedness is only a "negative guarantee of peace" and as time goes on will be inclined to put more and more trust in such relatively positive guarantees as are afforded by the Kellogg treaty outlanding that legal standing.

These treaties, the President went on, are a modification of the traditional atlitude by which was has had a certain legal standing.

"So long as promises can be broken and treaties can be violated," he continued, "we can have ne positive assurances, yet everyone knows they are additional safeguards. We can only say that this is the best that mortal man can do. It is beside the mark to argue that we should not put faith in it. The whole scheme of human society, the whole progress of civilization, requires that we should have faith in men and it nations. There is no other positive power on which we could rely. All the values that have ever been created, all the progress that has ever been made, the progress that has ever been made, declare that our faith is justified.

"For the cause of peace the United States is adopting the only practical principles that have ever been proposed, of preparation, limitation and renunciation. The progress that the world has made in this direction in the last ten years surpasses all the progress ever before made."

In succeeding paragraphs the President pointed out that while we gave aid in ending the war we had no part in starting it; that, once ended, we went to the rescue of friend and foe alike on the grounds of humanity; that we have loaned immense sums for reconstruction—including loans to Germany and her remeleivalities and corporations.

"We want peace," he said, "not only for the same reason that every other nation desires it, because we believe it to be right, but because war would interfere with our progress. Our interests all over the earth are such that a conflict anywhere would be enormously to our disadvantage. If we had not been in the World War, in spite of the profit we made in exports, whichever side had won, in the end our losses would have been very great. . . We want limitation of armaments for the welfare of humanity. We are not merely seeking humanity. We are not merely seeking our own advantage in this, as we do not need it, or attempting to avoid expense,

All in all, the speech covered the subfect completely, and probably more effectively than any other pronouncement which has been made on the subject. The speech is a strikingly clear-sighted review of post-war history from the American point of view and a vindication of our course, together with a justification of the pending naval-building program, which is beyond the honest challenge of any thinking person of whatever nationality.

it cannot be traced anywhere else. That is because of the wide arid areas which preserve many things which elsewhere would have decayed, and the fact that those areas never have been thickly populated. In Egypt the traces of the descent of man are lost under layers of Nile mud, in Europe and Asia they have been erased in most places, by the passing of countless generations. But in the caves of the American Southwest neither passing years nor passing feet have disturbed the relies which tell the story more clearly and more connectedly than it can be traced anywhere else.

Real Cave Man

Real Cave Man

And our own Southwest Museum is taking the lead in revealing this story. The other night we heard Dr. A. V. Kidder, director of archeology of the Carnegie Institute and probably the foremost archeologist in the world, say that Mark Harrington, the new director of research in the Southwest Museum, is "the greatest caveman of them all." Every year Dr. Kidder comes to Los Angeles to work awhile with the Southwest Museum—to keep in touch with the work it is doing—and that fact alone testifies convincingly to the high standing of our museum.

American Mummies

Until we heard Dr. Kidder we didn't They were no out of luck would go out and searth for them, and sell their finds to saloons and gambling halls. Inspired by stories of such finds, not long ago a man more used to unban ways than to those of the trail set out to find a mummy and hired a couple of Indians to guide him to caves in which one might be found. When we are destroying our natural forests as fast as we know how, do you suppose we are going to spare you in our campaign against life in the wilds?

No, Mr. Bruin, we don't mean wild life in the city, manufactured by jass hounds, but wild life in the back country created by Nature. Of course you are too primitive to appreciate the difference.

You plead that California adopted you for its State flag and so identifies you with the traditions of the Golden West. How far you are behind this modern age! You, too, represent just that.

How can we get you off our flag unless we first get you out of our forests?

Again, would you confound our long-held superstition that you are a beast of prey, dangerous to man, a rawager of the cattle pen and sheep fold? If so, why have you so long accepted the blame for the slaughter perpetrated by mountain llons, wild cats, wolves and lynxes?

Prexy Williams's worst political enemies in the circuit, the Hollywood club owner nominated the present president today when it became apparent that nobody else would put Williams's name forward. Lane also voted for Williams on one ballot and that was the only vote Harry got during the afternoon. The Los Angeles delegation that put Williams in office completely deserted him this afternoon for McCarthy, whose candidacy was backed by Herbert Fleishhacker, multimillionaire owner of the Mission club and a personal friend of Wrigley.

DEADLOCK STANDS

At the evening session the voting swung over to Williams on the inith and tenth ballots, Oakland, Seattle, Portland and Hollywood linguage.

At the evening session the voting swung over to Williams on the ninth and tenth bailots, Oakland, Seattle, Portland and Hollywood lining up behind him. The election was hopelessly deadlocked and the attempt was finally given up.
Williams now remains in office until some one is elected to replace him—and there is no telling when that will take place. It's all a very much tied-up situation and the only one that wins anything at this meeting is President Williams. The magnates will have another chance to elect a president at their next meeting at Hollywood, which will take place January 25, but that four-four deadlock still has to be broken before anyone can do anything.

As was expected the Ewingto those friendly with him in the other political angles.

Another measure brought up and adopted will permit exhibition games between Coast League clubs during the spring training period. This is for the benefit of Portland and Seattle clubs who have difficulty scheduling exhibition games during the spring. None of these exhibitions between the Coast League clubs will be permitted in Coast League cities and the number of these exhibition games for each club is limited.

As was expected the Ewing-Lane-Turner-Klepper fa et ion put over their plan to open the season on March 26. That is nothing more than a siap in the face for Wrigley, who wanted the race to begin in April in order that the Chicago Cubs could have a week longer exhibition game season in the spring at Wrigley Field. It also knocked out the proposed fourgame series between the Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates at Wrigley Field which the other magnates contended took the edge off the league's opening day in Los Angeles.

off the league's opening day in Los Angeles.

Wrigley previously announced that if the March 26 opening was adopted he would stage the Cub-Pirate series anyway and make the Coast
Leaguers play their first week outside of Wrigley Field. White Sox Park was mentioned as the site for the first week of Coast League play in Los Angeles.

The other directors admit that Wrigley has the right to deny the Coast League the use of his ball park any time he wants to, but they also are emphatic in that if the chewing-gum magnate attempts to put on the Cub-Pirate series in competition to the Coast League games he will find himself in a jam with the National Baseball Commission. That, it is contended, is an infringement on the Coast League's territorial rights and will call for plenty of explaining before the national baseball board. Personally, we think that Wrigley's threat was nothing but a bluff and the rest of the magnates have called his hand. Now it is up to Wrigley to either go through with his plans to a finish or politely back down.

Cal Ewing, Oakland president, was again appointed the Coast League's delegate to the national meeting and was unanimously instructed to vote "no" on the adoption of the universal draft and "yes" on the modified draft, which is now in vogue. Under the universal draft plan major league clubs would be able to draft all players who have been in Class AA ball four years. That would enable them to draft such players as Jolley and Averill for instance, for $5000, instead of their having to buy them for the fancy prices hung up by the club owners. Under the present arrangements the majors can draft only such players who have had previous major league experience.

Experienced investors follow the cycles of busi-ness. They invest just be-fore the upward trend.

Statistics show — authorities predict — another cycle of real estate activity. Every seven years, since 1889, has brought a peak. The chart shows a return of the cycle in 1929. Further indication is the increase in realty filings.

Go to a "Realtor" now, and ask him to show you good buys. Be ready to profit from a rising market. Be sure you look for the display of the title "Realtor."

When she fainted and fell across the white-hot bars of an electric heater at a place where she was employed last night Mrs. Mabel Dietrich, 40 years of age, received second and third-degree burns which may cause her death.

According to police, Mrs. Dietrich was employed in a refreshment stand at 5244 Pasadena avenue. She suddenly fainted and collapsed on the electric stove. A police ambulance was summoned and took her to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where the surgeons expressed little hope of saving her life. Mrs. Dietrich lives at 926 Annandale Boulevard.

Make Him Play with BOTH Hands

Few are the times you hear a piano solo over the radio. The famous planists have shied from broadcasting. And you, perhaps, often wonder why.

Those master musicians realized the shortcomings of the ordinary set in reproducing piano music. Bass notes are rarely heard, and if heard at all, the treble tones are badly distorted. In fact, the music has sounded as though the pianist were playing with only one hand.

Now comes a change-brought to you by the new Splitdorf Radio. NOW THE PIANIST PLAYS WITH BOTH HANDS!

A tube with seven times more power. With far greater range to reproduce faithfully all the notes of the musical scale.

Clearly, the deep rich basses stand out in melodious harmony with the other notes, as they come through Splitdorf's oversized dynamic speaker. No more need the planists fear that their broadcasting will be little appreciated. And, no matter what kind of music you listen to, a Splitdorf never distorts it.

Ask your dealer to bring a Splitdorf to your home, where you can compare it in all fairness to your present set. You'll applaud the Splitdorf's superiority.

Vondell Darr, a child actress whose performance in "On Trial" is so excellent that it rivals that of little David Lee in "The Singing Pool," also appears. Archie Mayo also appears.

Spottswood Has Original Role

Rehearsals of "The Lady Next Door," Dorothy Parker and Elmer E. Rice's comedy, are now under way at the Hollywood Playhouse, with the premiere scheduled for Sunday. James Spottswood in his original role of Ed Graham and Isabel Withers as Belle Sheridan head the cast, which includes Jane Morgan as Harriet Graham, the wife; Leah Winslow as Ada Towsley, the siter; William Lawrence as Bertram Sheridan, John Webb Dillon as Dr. Robbins and John Mackensie as Bill Saunders. Little Carline Enner will play the role of Sister Graham, the child.

"The Lady Next Door" is the story of an American household and of a husband who tires of routine and who, under the influence of music and an unaccustomed drink, fancies himself infatusted with the attractive and unhappy married woman who lives next door. It has been praised as one of the most realistic and human comedies and was produced in New York by Arthur Hop-kins.
